Final Rejection

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 1, 6, and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Morioka et al (JP 2-276057).

Claim 1, Morioka shows a disk reproducing apparatus in Figs. 1-8 including: a main body having a front panel; a frame 1 which is pushed out from or drawn into the main body through the front panel; a disk tray for mounting a plurality of disks which is rotatably attached to the frame; and an optical pick-up unit 25 (Column 12, lines 6-8) for reproducing or recording data from or in a disk; wherein an optical pick-up portion of the optical pick-up unit is located between a rotation center of the disk tray and the front panel of the main body when the frame is drawn into the main body for reproducing or recording data from or in the disk.

Claim 6, Morioka et al further the optical disk pick-up unit 25 includes a turn table 25a which holds and rotates a disk, and wherein when the frame is drawn into the main body, an optical pick-up portion of the optical pick-up unit is located on the main body with an angle of 90 degrees, the angle being formed by a line from a rotation center of the disk tray to a rotation center of the turn table in a reproducing position of the optical pick-up unit, and a line drawn horizontally from the rotation center of the disk tray to a midpoint of the front panel of the main body.

Claim 10, Mariana et al further shows that the optical disk pick-up unit 25 includes a turn table 25a which holds and rotates a disk, and wherein when the frame is drawn into the main body, an optical pick-up portion 25b of the optical pick-up unit is located on the main body with an angle of 90 degrees, the angle being formed by a line from a rotation center of the disk tray to a rotation center of the turn table in a reproducing position of the optical pick-up unit, and a line drawn horizontally from the rotation center of the disk tray to a midpoint of the front panel of the main body.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 2, 3, 5, 7-9, and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mariana et al.

Claims 2, 3, 5, 7-9, and 11-13; Mariana et al shows a disk reproducing apparatus as described above, wherein an optical pickup is used (Column 11, lines 6-9), but fails to show a plurality of output terminals attached to a rear panel of the main body, the output terminals include terminals for different signals; and the disk tray supports a DVD.

However it would have been obvious and notorious to one of ordinary skill in the art to find that the apparatus has a plurality of output terminals attached to a rear panel of the main body, the output terminals include terminals for different signals; and the disk tray supports a DVD. The rationale is as follows: in Mariana et al's device, an optical pickup is used, which can be used for optical disk, and DVD is an optical disk and is also a commonly used optical disk, no obstacle was found in the disclosed structure, which prevents the use of a DVD disk. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to include DVD as the optical disk used in this device. It is also a common and notorious practice that the device has at least two terminals, one for signal and one for ground; and at least two signals included; for example, one for controller and one of information; and the information signal can further have one for video and one for audio.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

And also Applicant's submission of an information disclosure statement under 37 CFR 1.97(c) with the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(p) on 03/03/2005 prompted the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 609(B)(2)(i). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
